

Curriculum Vitae

Edward Gaffney

November 20, 2008

Profile: Economics graduate with First Class degree from TCD with strong quantitative and communication skills.

1 Experience

June-July 2008: Economic Researcher, Irish Hospice Foundation, Nassau Street, Dublin 2. I produced a 20-page report, literature review and executive summary on the economics of hospice care. The Foundation used the report in media campaigns and its Budget 2009 submission.

July-August 2006: Equity Research, Bloxham Stockbrokers, IFSC, Dublin 1. Tasks included background research into Irish and UK PLCs, writing news briefings for the investment team and data analysis.

2 Education

University: First Class B.A. (Mod.) in Economics and Mathematics, Trinity College, Dublin; graduated November 2008. Courses included both quantitative and written composition aspects.

Secondary level: Leaving Certificate, 2003: 600 points; A1 grades in subjects including English and Mathematics.

3 Skills & Expertise

Communications: Champion and finalist of several national and university debating tournaments. Fluent in English, French and Irish, with some German; also qualified to teach English as a foreign language. I have worked on several youth voting campaigns using modern technology to raise awareness, including blogging and an RTÉ Prime Time appearance.

Technology: Proficient in Microsoft Office, HTML and web design, LaTeX typesetting, quantitative/econometric analysis, and programming in C and Python languages.
